

YOUR ROAD-TO-FI GUIDE

Net Worth & FIRE Tracker

Watch your money grow.

Everything you own and owe in one number, a two-minute check-in each month, and the year you could be financially independent.

ONE FILE · WORKS OFFLINE · YOUR OWN BACKUPS

What you downloaded.

Read this page first. The rest is here whenever you need it.

FILE	WHAT IT IS
NetWorthFireTracker.html	The whole app, in one file. This is the product.
Net_Worth_FIRE_Tracker_Guide.pdf	This guide.
START_HERE.txt	The short version of this page.
LICENCE.txt	What you may and may not do with the file.

The HTML file is not a document that opens an app: it is the app. The code, fonts and charts are all inside it, and nothing is downloaded when you use it.

Setting up: about ten minutes

1. Extract the ZIP into a folder you will find again. A synced folder (iCloud Drive, Dropbox, OneDrive, Google Drive) is ideal.
2. Double-click NetWorthFireTracker.html. It opens in Chrome, Edge, Safari or Firefox like a web page, and works offline from then on.
3. Take the welcome tour. A few short slides on adding accounts, the monthly check-in, your FIRE number and backups.
4. Add your accounts with today's balance: checking, savings, investments, retirement, your home, and what you owe. The usual ones are one click away on an empty app.
5. Set your FIRE number on the FIRE plan: enter what you spend in a year.
6. Download a backup from Settings & backup. Page 9 explains why it matters more than anything else here.

Want to look around first?

Choose Explore sample data on the welcome screen or in Settings & backup. A fictional household's 13 accounts and two and a half years of check-ins fill every screen, in a separate session. Return to my accounts brings back your own, untouched.

One number that counts.

Net worth is everything you own minus everything you owe. Watch it once a month and it tells you if you're moving in the right direction.

Net worth. The big number, what moved since last month, and how far along you are to your FIRE number; the ring shows where what you own sits.

WORD	WHAT IT MEANS
Net worth	What you own minus what you owe.
Toward FI	Invested money that can pay for your life one day: investments, retirement accounts, an HSA, crypto.
FIRE number	A year of spending ÷ your withdrawal rate. At 4% that's 25 years of spending.
Coast FI	Enough invested that, with no more saving, it grows into your FIRE number by retirement age.

Add each account once.

Accounts → Add an account. Typing a name picks the type for you; a name like “Visa” or “Mortgage” switches to something you owe.

FIELD	WHAT TO ENTER
Name	“Checking”, “401(k)”, “Mortgage”. Anything you’ll recognize.
Own or owe	Something you own (an asset) or something you owe (a debt).
Balance today	What it’s worth, or what you owe, as a positive number. $35,000 or 1,250.50 are fine.
Type	Cash, savings, investments, retirement, HSA, crypto, home, vehicle, mortgage, cards, loans. Add your own in Settings.
Counts toward FI	Ticked for investments and retirement accounts. Change it per account.
Bank, note	Optional: where it’s held, a reminder like “employer matches 4%”.

Your home and car

Add them at a fair estimate if you like: they count in your net worth, but not toward FI, because you can’t live off them without selling.

Found an account later?

Leave I already had this account ticked and its balance counts from your first check-in, so it doesn’t show up as growth.

Closing or paying off

Edit the account and set it to Closed or paid off with the month. It counts as 0 from then, and keeps its history.

EACH MONTH

A two-minute check-in.

Once a month, open Monthly check-in, type each balance as it is today, and save.

Watch it as you type

The totals at the top and each row's change update as you type, so you see the month before you save.

Missed a month?

No problem: a month without a check-in keeps the last balances. Use the arrows to fill in an earlier month whenever you like.

Only one account changed? Use Update balance on its card instead.

5

How much is enough?

FIRE plan → enter a year of spending. Everything else has a sensible default you can change.

Withdrawal rate How much of your invested money you'd spend each year. 4% is the classic rule; 3.5% is more cautious.

Return after inflation A steady average growth rate in today's money. 5% is a middle-of-the-road guess.

Invested each month Everything going into accounts that count toward FI, employer match included.

Lean, FIRE, Fat 75%, 100% and 150% of your spending, each with its own date.

When could you stop working?

The road there draws your invested money growing year by year against your FIRE number.

It's a smooth average, not a promise: real markets go up and down. Your check-ins keep it honest.

The screens.

Turn off any you don't use in Settings & backup → Simplify your sidebar.

SCREEN	WHAT IT IS FOR
Net worth	The number, what moved, your chart, and your road to FI.
Accounts	Every account as a card or a table; filter by type and own or owe; update one balance.
Monthly check-in	Every balance on one screen, and every past check-in.
FIRE plan	Your number, Lean and Fat FIRE, Coast FI, what moves the date, the road there.
Milestones	$10k to $1M+, a quarter of the way, halfway, Coast FI: when you passed each, when the next comes.
History	Every month and every year's change; one account's history. Export as CSV.
Settings & backup	Name, currency, 8 themes, account types, your sidebar, backups.

Every table sorts, searches and filters. Every screen prints.

Keeping your numbers safe.

Everything lives in your browser, on your device. Nothing is sent anywhere, there is no account, and nobody else holds a copy, including us.

Your entries live in browser storage: please read

- Everything you enter or import is saved automatically in that browser's local storage.
- Clearing your cache, history or site data will permanently delete it.
- It does not carry across browsers: data added in Chrome will not appear in Safari.
- The HTML file does not contain your entries. Copying the file does not copy your data.

Do one of these. Ideally both.

Download backup: every browser

Settings & backup → Download backup. One JSON file holding every account, check-in, account type and your FIRE plan. Restore backup brings it back on any computer. The app reminds you when a backup is due.

Daily folder backup: Chrome or Edge

Choose a synced folder once (iCloud Drive, Dropbox, OneDrive, Google Drive) and a dated copy is written each day you make changes. Safari and Firefox do not offer this; use Download backup instead.

Moving to another computer

Copy the HTML file and your latest backup across, open the file, then Settings & backup → Restore backup.

A few useful fixes.

WHAT YOU SEE	WHAT TO DO
It opens as code, not an app	Extract the ZIP first, then right-click the file → Open with → your browser.
My numbers are gone	Check it is the same browser and profile you used before. Otherwise, Restore backup.
My net worth jumped	Check the newest check-in for a typo: History → open the month, or the account's own history.
Toward FI is $0	Edit your investment and retirement accounts and tick Counts toward financial independence .
Years to FI says “not at this rate”	Nothing is going in and nothing grows: add what you invest each month, or a return above 0%.
A debt shows as negative	Enter what you owe as a positive number on a “Something I owe” account.
Folder backup unavailable	Use Chrome or Edge on a computer, or Download backup instead.
The currency is wrong	Settings & backup → Currency, or type your own symbol. Amounts are not converted.
I want the tour again	Settings & backup → Welcome tour → Show tour.

If Net Worth & FIRE Tracker earns its place, a review genuinely helps a small shop. And if it does not, tell us before you leave one: most things are fixable.
