YOUR WAY-OUT GUIDE

Debt Free Plan

See the month you're debt free.

A debt payoff tracker in one file. Add your debts once, pick a strategy, and watch every balance fall to the month you're free.

ONE FILE · WORKS OFFLINE · YOUR OWN BACKUPS

What you downloaded.

Read this page first. The rest is here whenever you need it.

FILE	WHAT IT IS
DebtFreePlan.html	The whole app, in one file. This is the product.
Debt_Free_Plan_Guide.pdf	This guide.
START_HERE.txt	The short version of this page.
LICENCE.txt	What you may and may not do with the file.

The HTML file is not a document that opens an app: it is the app. The code, fonts and charts are all inside it, and nothing is downloaded when you use it.

Setting up: about ten minutes

1. Extract the ZIP into a folder you will find again. A synced folder (iCloud Drive, Dropbox, OneDrive, Google Drive) is ideal.
2. Double-click DebtFreePlan.html. It opens in Chrome, Edge, Safari or Firefox like a web page, and works offline from then on.
3. Take the welcome tour. A few short slides on adding debts, your plan, logging payments and backups.
4. Add every debt on My debts, then set your monthly budget when asked.
5. Download a backup from Settings & backup. Page 9 explains why it matters more than anything else here.

Want to look around first?

Choose Explore sample data on the welcome screen or in Settings & backup. Six fictional debts fill every screen, in a separate session. Return to my debts brings back your own, untouched.

One date to aim for.

Debt Free Plan answers one question first: when will the last debt reach zero?

Debt freedom. Your debt-free date, total owed, paid so far, and the interest still ahead of you.

WORD	WHAT IT MEANS
Minimum	What each lender requires every month.
Extra	Your monthly budget above all the minimums. It goes to one target debt at a time.
Rollover	When a debt is cleared, its payment moves to the next one.
Debt-free date	The month the last debt reaches zero.

List every debt once.

My debts → Add a debt. Or import your card and loan downloads (page 6).

What to enter

Balance, interest rate (APR), minimum payment and due day. Lender and category are optional; amounts like $5,000 are fine.

Card minimums

Choose Card style for a credit card: 1% of the balance plus that month's interest, never below what you enter. It falls as the balance falls.

0% promos

Enter the promo rate and its end month. The standard rate starts on time.

Status

Active and Hardship plan debts are in the plan. Paused, In collections and In dispute stay in your total owed but out of the plan and the debt-free date.

Cards or table

Switch with Grid and Table. Filter by category; edit categories in Settings.

Pick a strategy. Watch it move.

STRATEGY

HOW IT WORKS

Avalanche

Highest interest rate first. It costs the least.

Snowball

Smallest balance first. You see debts disappear sooner.

Cash flow

Clears the debt that frees the most monthly minimum for its size.

Credit score

Pays down the cards closest to their limit first.

Your order

Follows the order you set.

Slide the budget, or tap +$50, +$100, +$250: the debt-free date, interest and every chart follow along.

Log it. Or import it.

Balances update from the payments you record, and from your statements.

Logging payments

On Debt freedom, Pay this month lists every payment and its due date. Log one, or Log all as paid in one click. Each debt's history icon shows every payment, charge and interest line.

Importing statements

On Import statements, drop the CSV, OFX or QFX files from a card, loan or checking account. Payments, charges and real interest are matched to each debt, and duplicates are skipped.

How interest is worked out

Each month a debt is charged its $\text{APR} \div 12$ on the balance, like a card statement. Lenders charge daily, so a statement can differ by a few cents. When a statement arrives, use Update balance; the estimate restarts from there.

What if

An extra payment each month, a one-off payment (a tax refund, a bonus), a lower rate, a balance transfer with its fee, a consolidation loan, or “debt free by” a date you choose. Nothing changes until you apply it.

Progress

The coloring chart: one bubble for every step paid off. Print it for the fridge. Milestones at 10%, a quarter, half and more.

Due dates

Each payment on the day it lands, with what your plan sends.

Find extra money

An optional budget and cut-back ideas to grow your monthly payment (switch on in Settings).

The screens.

Turn off any you don't use in Settings & backup → Simplify your sidebar.

SCREEN	WHAT IT IS FOR
Debt freedom	Your debt-free date, what to pay this month, what's next, and warnings.
My debts	Every debt as a card or a table, with its status and category.
Import statements	Card, loan and bank downloads matched to your debts.
Payoff plan	Budget, strategy, the month-by-month schedule and all five strategies compared.
Payments	Every payment, charge, interest line and statement balance. Export as CSV.
What if	Test changes without touching your plan.
Progress	Coloring chart, milestones and each debt colored in.
Due dates	The month's payments on a calendar.
Find extra money	Monthly budget, transactions and cut-back ideas (optional).
Settings & backup	Name, currency, 8 themes, debt categories, your sidebar, backups.

Warnings to watch for

A balance that's growing (the payment doesn't cover the interest), a promo rate ending soon, or a card at its limit. They appear on Debt freedom.

Keeping your plan safe.

Everything lives in your browser, on your device. Nothing is sent anywhere, there is no account, and nobody else holds a copy, including us.

Your entries live in browser storage: please read

- Everything you enter or import is saved automatically in that browser's local storage.
- Clearing your cache, history or site data will permanently delete it.
- It does not carry across browsers: data added in Chrome will not appear in Safari.
- The HTML file does not contain your entries. Copying the file does not copy your data.

Do one of these. Ideally both.

Download backup: every browser

Settings & backup → Download backup. One JSON file holding every debt, payment, category and your plan. Restore backup brings it back on any computer. The app reminds you when a backup is due.

Daily folder backup: Chrome or Edge

Choose a synced folder once (iCloud Drive, Dropbox, OneDrive, Google Drive) and a dated copy is written each day you make changes. Safari and Firefox do not offer this; use Download backup instead.

Moving to another computer

Copy the HTML file and your latest backup across, open the file, then Settings & backup → Restore backup.

A few useful fixes.

WHAT YOU SEE	WHAT TO DO
It opens as code, not an app	Extract the ZIP first, then right-click the file → Open with → your browser.
My numbers are gone	Check it is the same browser and profile you used before. Otherwise, Restore backup.
The budget is below the minimums	Raise it to at least the minimums total, or mark a debt Paused if you aren't paying it now.
A balance doesn't match my statement	Use Update balance on that debt, or import the statement to bring in the real interest.
"Every line is from before you added..."	The file is older than the balance you entered, so those lines are already in it. Import a newer download.
A debt shows as growing	The payment doesn't cover its monthly interest. Raise its payment or your budget.
Folder backup unavailable	Use Chrome or Edge on a computer, or Download backup instead.
The currency is wrong	Settings & backup → Currency, or type your own symbol. Amounts are not converted.
I want the tour again	Settings & backup → Welcome tour → Show tour.
