YOUR NEVER-LATE GUIDE

Bill & Subscription Tracker

Never miss a due date.

Every bill and subscription in one file: what's due, what's paid, what renews next, and what it all costs a year.

ONE FILE · WORKS OFFLINE · YOUR OWN BACKUPS

What you downloaded.

Read this page first. The rest is here whenever you need it.

FILE	WHAT IT IS
BillSubscriptionTracker.html	The whole app, in one file. This is the product.
Bill_Subscription_Tracker_Guide.pdf	This guide.
START_HERE.txt	The short version of this page.
LICENCE.txt	What you may and may not do with the file.

The HTML file is not a document that opens an app: it is the app. The code, fonts and charts are all inside it, and nothing is downloaded when you use it.

Setting up: about ten minutes

1. Extract the ZIP into a folder you will find again. A synced folder (iCloud Drive, Dropbox, OneDrive, Google Drive) is ideal.
2. Double-click BillSubscriptionTracker.html. It opens in Chrome, Edge, Safari or Firefox like a web page, and works offline from then on.
3. Take the welcome tour. A few short slides on adding bills, ticking them off, renewals and backups.
4. Add your bills: rent, utilities, insurance, phone, streaming. The usual ones are one click away on an empty app.
5. Download a backup from Settings & backup. Page 9 explains why it matters more than anything else here.

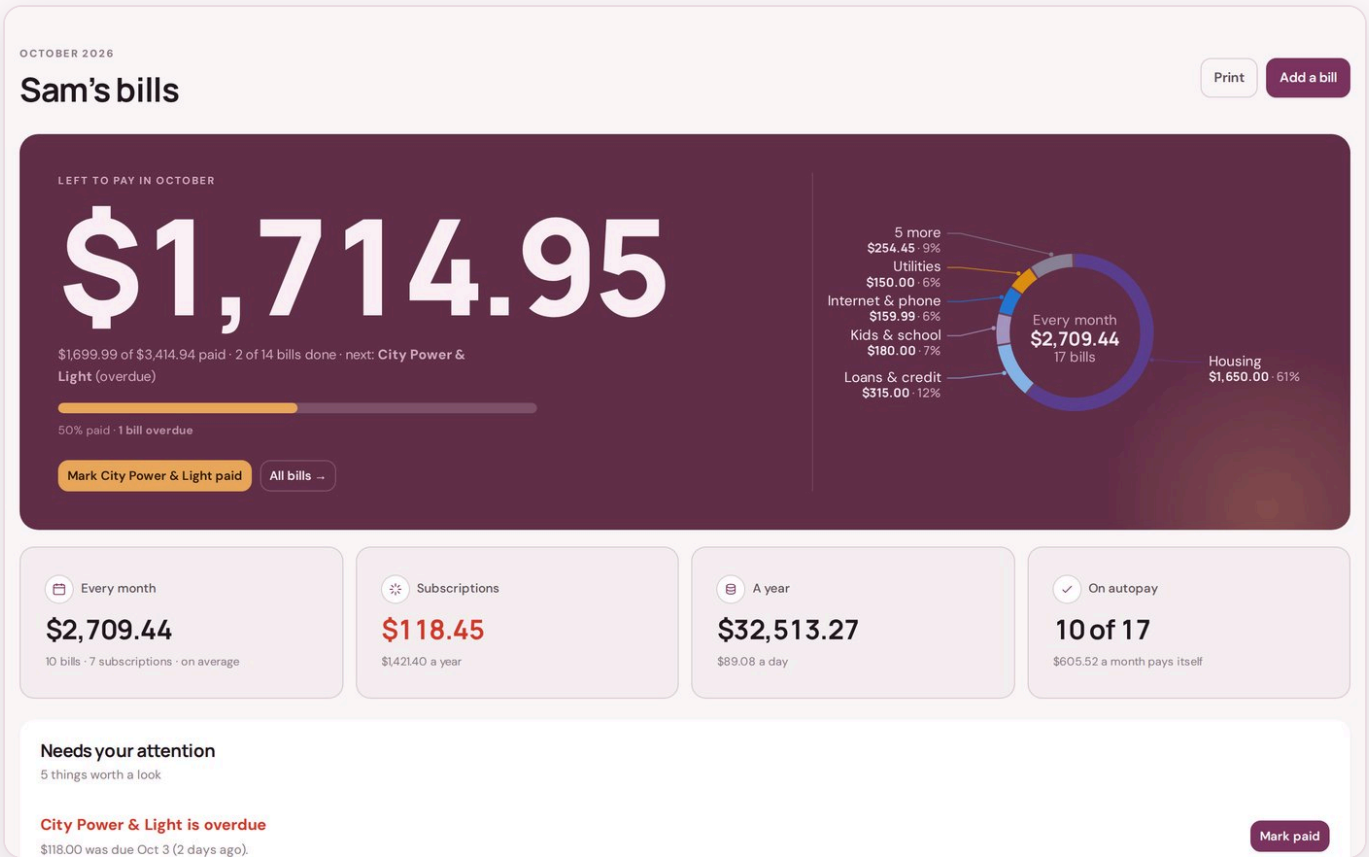

Want to look around first?

Choose Explore sample data on the welcome screen or in Settings & backup. A fictional household's 19 bills fill every screen, in a separate session. Return to my bills brings back your own, untouched.

What’s left to pay, at a glance.

Bill & Subscription Tracker answers one question first: how much is still to pay this month?

This month. The big number is what you haven't ticked off yet; the ring shows what your bills cost a month, by category.

WORD	WHAT IT MEANS
Every month	All your bills averaged to one month: a yearly $120 bill counts as $10.
Left to pay	This month's bills not ticked off yet.
Autopay	Counts as paid on its due day, without a tick.
Set aside	Your yearly and quarterly bills ÷ 12: save this each month and they never surprise you.

Add each bill once.

Bills & subscriptions → Add a bill. Every later due date follows from the one you enter.

FIELD	WHAT TO ENTER
Name and amount	"Electric", "Netflix". Amounts like $1,450 or 15.49 are fine.
Bill or subscription	Subscriptions are counted apart, so you can see what they add up to.
How often	Every week, 2 weeks, month, 2 months, 3 months, 6 months, year, or once. A bill on the 31st falls on the last day of shorter months.
Next due date	The next time it's due. The calendar fills in from there.
On autopay	It ticks itself on its due day.
The amount changes	For electric or water: you're asked what you really paid when you tick it.
Free trial ends	Nothing is due until then; the first charge is that day. You're warned a week before.
Remind me to cancel by	Any bill can have a reminder date.
Pays from, website, notes	Optional: which card or account, the login page, an account number ending.

Price went up?

Edit the bill, type the new amount and the date it starts. Past months keep the old price, and the rise shows on Renewals & trials.

The screens.

Turn off any you don't use in Settings & backup → Simplify your sidebar.

SCREEN	WHAT IT IS FOR
This month	What's left to pay, what needs attention, the tick-off list and the next two weeks.
Bills & subscriptions	Every bill as a card or a table; filter by status, type and category.
Calendar	The month's due dates; click to tick.
Renewals & trials	Trials, reminders, renewals, price rises, and what cancelling saved.
Yearly cost	The year month by month, and every bill's share. Export as CSV.
Payment history	What you paid and when, on time or late. Export as CSV.
Settings & backup	Name, currency, 8 themes, bill categories, your sidebar, backups.

Every table sorts, searches and filters. Every screen prints.

Keeping your bills safe.

Everything lives in your browser, on your device. Nothing is sent anywhere, there is no account, and nobody else holds a copy, including us.

Your entries live in browser storage: please read

- Everything you enter or import is saved automatically in that browser's local storage.
- Clearing your cache, history or site data will permanently delete it.
- It does not carry across browsers: data added in Chrome will not appear in Safari.
- The HTML file does not contain your entries. Copying the file does not copy your data.

Do one of these. Ideally both.

Download backup: every browser

Settings & backup → Download backup. One JSON file holding every bill, subscription, payment and category. Restore backup brings it back on any computer. The app reminds you when a backup is due.

Daily folder backup: Chrome or Edge

Choose a synced folder once (iCloud Drive, Dropbox, OneDrive, Google Drive) and a dated copy is written each day you make changes. Safari and Firefox do not offer this; use Download backup instead.

Moving to another computer

Copy the HTML file and your latest backup across, open the file, then Settings & backup → Restore backup.

A few useful fixes.

WHAT YOU SEE	WHAT TO DO
It opens as code, not an app	Extract the ZIP first, then right-click the file → Open with → your browser.
My numbers are gone	Check it is the same browser and profile you used before. Otherwise, Restore backup.
A bill shows on the wrong day	Edit it and set the first due date; every later date follows from it.
An autopay bill didn't go through	Click its tick to take it back, then mark it paid when it does.
A trial shows a charge	Check the trial end date on the bill. The first charge is due that day.
Last month's numbers changed	A new price needs a start date; otherwise it applies from the first due date.
Folder backup unavailable	Use Chrome or Edge on a computer, or Download backup instead.
The currency is wrong	Settings & backup → Currency, or type your own symbol. Amounts are not converted.
I want the tour again	Settings & backup → Welcome tour → Show tour.
